SA refs for Afcon

'It is encouraging to see that African soccer body CAF has shown confidence in our young and upcoming referees'

Top ref ... Daniel Bennet

Soccer Correspondent

South Africa will be well represented at the 28th African Cup of Nations tournament as Daniel Bennett and Zakhele Siwela have been called up to officiate in the African football showpiece.

The next Africa Cup of Nations tournament will be hosted jointly by Equatorial Guinea and Gabon from 21 January - 12 February 2012.

The South African duo was selected to officiate in the auspicious continental tournament following their success during the CAF Elite Referees Fitness tests that were conducted during an Elite Referees workshop held in Cairo about a month ago.

The South African officials have also received accolades from the Zimbabwean Football Association (Zifa) after they successfully officiated in the local Mbada Cup final held in the capital Harare on November 27.

Chairman of the Safa Referees Committee Alpha Mchunu said the appointment of Siwela and Bennett was exciting news and showed that their succession plan regarding the development of referees was working.

"This is exciting news that our referees will be present at the 2012 Afcon tournament, and I am confident that Bennett and Siwela will make the much-needed impact. We would have loved to see more of our officials in Equatorial Guinea and Gabon next year, but we are hopeful this will become a reality in future CHAN and Afcon tournaments in the next few years.

"It is also encouraging to see that CAF has shown confidence in our young and upcoming referees, it proves that our succession plan is on track and working well," said Mchunu.

Referees selected to officiate at the 2012 Afcon tournament have been invited to attend a refresher course on 19 January 2012 in Equatorial Guinea and Gabon.

Hillbrow soccer tourney

Madulammoho Housing Association kicked off the festive season by organising a two day five-a-side soccer tournament at Orange Cruyff Court in Hillbrow.

According to resident coach John "Bull" Sibeko, a former Witbank Aces player, the tournament was aimed at creating awareness about the pitch's existence and benefits to the community, while bringing everyone together to celebrate the facility's successes over the past 16 months. The tournament was divided into three categories of under-10, under-15 and the veteran players. "Through this tournament we were able to discover enormous talent. With good coaching I have no doubt that six players will make it to the upper level, it is clear that professional players will be discovered here," added Sibeko.

Madulammoho FC won 3-2 against Tiger

Boys in the under-10 final. "Two boys from Madulammoho team have made a cut to the national level. Other players have been taken to the School of Excellence," added Sibeko.

In an electrifying under-15 final, Future Stars walloped Plato Stars 7-5, after the two sides went to stoppage time level at 4-4.

The veterans final between Young Stars and Black Aces ended in a 3-2 victory for Stars. Young Stars coach Anthony "Siwelelesh" Atong, applauded his players for a sterling performance. "The victory, also demonstrated the tremendous talent in Hillbrow."

Sibeko said the style of play is a combination of 'total football' and African flair. He added that a veterans' league will be established next year.

"We will try to rope them in a form of a Sunday league," he added.

The pitch, located at the BG Alexander complex was officially opened in June last year by the Dutch team and legend Johann Cruyff.
